NOTES FOR THE INFORMATION OF APPLICANTS

1. You should enclose with this application a copy of the conveyance, deed, instrument or writing under which the title condition was created, a large scale plan of the location identifying adjacent properties and any grant of planning permission which has been obtained for any proposed development, with any plans relating to it.

An application for the variation, discharge, renewal or preservation, of a title condition shall, unless it falls to be granted as of right under section 97(1) of this Act, be granted by the Lands Tribunal only if they are satisfied, having regard to the factors set out in section 100 of this Act, that-

(a) except in the case of an application under subsection (3) of section 34 or, in respect of a deed of variation or discharge granted by the owner of an adjacent unit, subsection (1) of section 37 of this Act, it is reasonable to grant the application; or

(b) in such a case, the variation or discharge in question-

(i) is not in the best interests of the owners of all the units in the community; or

(ii) is unfairly prejudicial to one or more of those owners.

3. Section 100 of the Title Conditions (Scotland) Act reads as follows:-

The factors mentioned in section 98 of this Act are-

(a) any change in circumstances since the title condition was created (including, without prejudice to that generality, any change in the character of the benefited property, of the burdened property or of the neighbourhood of the properties);

(b) the extent to which the condition-

(i) confers benefit on the benefited property; or

(ii) where there is no benefited property, confers benefit on the public;

(c) the extent to which the condition impedes enjoyment of the burdened property;

(d) if the condition is an obligation to do something, how-

(i) practicable; or

(ii) costly,

it is to comply with the condition;

(e) the length of time which has elapsed since the condition was created;

(f) the purpose of the title condition;

(g) whether in relation to the burdened property there is the consent, or deemed consent, of a planning authority, or the consent of some other regulatory authority, for a use which the condition prevents;

(h) whether the owner of the burdened property is willing to pay compensation;

(i) if the application is under section 90(1)(b)(ii) of this Act, the purpose for which the land is being acquired by the person proposing to register the conveyance; and

(j) any other factor which the Lands Tribunal consider to be material.

4. Your application will be intimated to persons who may have an interest to oppose it. It is accordingly in your interest to ensure that you set out your description of any circumstances relied on as fully as you can. The Tribunal may allow new material to be introduced at a later stage but if this gives rise to expense which could have been avoided by a more careful application, the Tribunal will take that into consideration. You will not be allowed to introduce new material in the later stages of the case if the Tribunal thinks this would prejudice any objectors.
